disappearagoe, of his prether-in-law But it was nearly noon Tuesday before Sheriff Perry was notified. Kingsish hopling that Blondi might turn up. Sheriff Perry inneedlately arrived at the conclusion that Blondi had been nurdered, and, with the assistance of its deputies, made a thorough search for the body Tuesday afternoon in the ricinity of the spot where the car was bandoned. But the where the car was or the body ruesday afternoon in the vicinity of the spot where the car was abandoned.

But the whereabouts of Riends remained a mostery until the negro stumbled upon his body in the Ridgeway daily farm woodland at dawn 24 hours after the finding of the empty car.

From evidence gleaned at the spot where the murder was committed. Sheriff Perry formed the confident opinion that the little restaurateur was deliberately and coldly decoyed to his death by his slayers. The murderers picked the spot because it was lonely, dark and some distance from a house. They met Blondi somewhere on Brooks averue or Poplar pike and either took him into a car with them or got in his car. They then drove through the gate to the woods lot and to the spot where they were to deliver the cargo of liquor. They got out of the car and while they stood bargaining with Blondi, one of them shot him down. Blondi one of them shot him down. Blondi oriently saw that he was to be shot before the shogun was discharged, for the left lapel and collar of his raincoat is form with shot indicating that he must have pulled the coat up over his face when his harriffed eyes saw the gun lifted to shoot. The back of his velour crush hat, which was evidently tilted back when the shot was fired, was also badly shot-torn on the left side.

Had Many Friends.

The murdered man is described by theriff Perry as "a harmless, good-atured, hard-working little fellow," hough he has been prominently identified with Memphis bootlegging fraterity for several years. He had been trested time and again on charges of lifeit trading in liquor and in 1313 was sinvicted on one of these charges and erved a term in the Shelby county workhouse.

served a term in the Shelby county workhouse.

Biondi is survived by a young widow, who was Miss Kingsley before her marriage, and two small children, a daughter, Mary Agnes, aged 4, and a son, B. Laike, aged 21 months. His residence is 1277. Agnes place. He was bern in Italy 30 years ago, and has been in Memphis about 12 years, having come to this city directly from his native kand. He has been in the restaurant business ever since he came to Memphis. Biondi married Miss Kingsley about five and a half years ago.

Biondi was once before victimized by persons from whom he had planned to buy liquor. During the summer a year ago he went to a point below Lake View in Mississippi to get a supply of liquor and was robbed of $1,300. With this incident in mind, Kingsley protested to Blond! Monday night against the latter's going out to keep the appointment he had made. "You are crazy to go out there to meet anybody with all that money on you," remonstrated Kingsley. "You ought at least to take somebody with you."

ley. "You ought at least to take some-body with you."

The appointment, the keeping of which resulted in his death, was thought to have been made by Biondi about 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Some person called Biondi on the 'phone at that time, and it is presum-ed from Biondi's end of the conversa-ed from Biondi's end of the conversa-tion that the appointment was made. tion that the appointment was made. Blondi told Kingsley that the person he was talking too had "important business" with him and he gave that person the number of the automobile he would drive out in to keep the appointment.

he would drive out in to keep the appointment.

Kingsley is known to have a pretty good idea who the person is who called Blondi over the phone and to have given his name to Sheriff Perry. But for obvious reasons the sheriff will not make this name public. Kingsley also knows the name of the man with whom Blondi was last seen Monday night, and has also intrusted this to the sheriff.

Sheriff Perry brought the body of Blondi to Collins undertaking establishment where Squire N. T. Ingram, corener, will hold an inquest.

The sheriff and attorney-general offices are working on several clews. Charles Garibaldi, office deputy, and Theodore Hunn, county detectives, went to Lake View to see a woman who, it is said, can throw some light on Blondi's murder.

The funeral of Blondi will be held nurder.

The funeral of Biondi will be held from the late residence, 1277 Agnes lace, Thursday morning at 8:30. Solumn requiem mass will be sung at St. atrick's church following the ceremony and interment will follow at Cal-vary cemetery.

TOMORROW'S ESTIMATED

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov 5.—The cotter tarket was very active and strong at he opening today with all months makthe opening today with all months making new high records. Liverpool reported a big advance over the local holiday while there was frost in the Southwest and early advices indicated a continued active spot demand. Buying on these features was stimulated by the mora favorable view of the coal strike situation, and after opening 48 to 61 points higher, active months sold 65 to 85 points above Monday's closing, with December touching 38.10c and January 37.58c.

The early advance carried beauty

The early advance carried December up to 28 for and January to 27 57s, with active months generally selling about 75 to 93 points and trailer became less active late in the morning with prices showing reactions of 10 to 15 points from the best.

The midday reactions carried micro from the best.

The midday reactions carried prices about 30 to 35 points under the early high level, but the market firmed upagin in the afternoon on expectations of increased exports. New Orleans reogain in the afternoon on expectations of increased exports. New Oriesias re-morted a clearance for Great Britain, the first in about a month. Murch sold off to 16.76c and railled to about the 37 more eye!

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS. Nov. 5.—Better weather over the belt than expected caused a drop of 10 to 25 points in the cotton market on the opening today, but almost immediately a strong demandsprang up and values were shot up intonew tigh ground with the greatent ease. December trading up to 28.51c.
At the endor the first half hour of business prices were 6 to 27 points higher than the closing level of yesterday.

At a level 8 to 27 points up a great deal of realising commenced to come from the long side and it caused a moderate sag. Toward noon the trading menths were 6 to 16 points under the final prices of yesterday.

The market turned much quister but remained steady and at 1 o'clock the trading positions were 7 points higher
